

ARGENTINA REFUSES TO LIFT EMBARGO—TROUBLE COMING

Buenos Aires, April 10.—Argentina is determined not to yield to British and American pressure for lifting her embargo on wheat unless absolutely necessary.

Pres. Irigoyen today dispatched navy transport to Chile to purchase coal. He is negotiating for coal from Columbia and entire Argentina navy may be assigned to carry coal. It was admitted that unless Argentina is able to obtain coal her industries would be paralyzed.

Feeling against England reached acute stage when it was reported today that British minister, Sir Reginald Tower, had threatened to ask for his passport unless embargo is raised.

While United States is apparently supporting England in applying pressure, it was known that Ambassador Stimson does not wholly agree with British minister and has reported to Washington that Argentina may have cause on account of shortage of wheat crop for putting embargo on grain.

From number of sources came report today that Argentina government was secretly considering wisdom of declaration against Germany, thus "beating Brazil to it," and gaining credit of United States and allies. Plan seems incredible in view of bitter friction between Great Britain and Argentina over embargo.
